A QUAINT CHARACTER

THE ECCENTRICITIES OF THE ITALIAN MARQUIS DEL GRILLO.

Grim Joke by Which He Attempted to Revolutionize the Administration of Justice in Rome—Giving to Caesar What Belonged to Caesar.

The Marquis del Grillo, husband of the famous actress, Adelaide Ristori, was one of the best known characters of his day. Rich, bearing a title that made him one of the most conspicuous figures in Roman life, and absolutely indifferent to what others thought of him, he indulged in all sorts of pranks. Society called them eccentricities and pronounced him slightly unbalanced, but in reality he was possessed of unusually bright faculties. He had a keen sense of humor, loved excitement and was thoroughly awake to the shortcomings of his generation. His eccentricities were so many object lessons, which it pleased him to administer in his own quaint way, and they seldom went wide of the mark.

His first attempt at a practical joke, if such it may be termed, bade fair to revolutionize the administration of justice in Rome.

Punctually at 10 one bright spring morning every church bell in town began to ring "a morto," a long, peculiar toll used to announce a death. Pius IX. was then reigning pontiff and, hearing the general tolling, asked who the great personage was that all Rome was mourning. None of his "suit" knew, but inquiries at St. Peter's elicited the fact that the Marquis del Grillo had sent the order without specifying who was dead. The pontiff was even more mystified, and when word had come from other churches to the same effect he sent for the marquis, who promptly answered the summons.

"I hear," said Pius IX. to the marquis, that it is at your bidding that every bell in Rome is tolling. Who, then, is dead?"

"Justice, your holiness," was the enigmatic reply.

"Justice?"

"Yes, your holiness—justice. The goddess is no more in the pontifical states."

And thereupon he related to the astonished pontiff how, becoming aware of the corruption existing in judiciary circles, he had made an experiment. Claiming that the farm of a poor neighbor of his belonged to him, he brought the poor man to court and by liberal bribing obtained possession of the whole estate, to which he had no right whatsoever.

The pope, after listening attentively, censured the marquis severely for the method used, but history tells us that the lesson bore fruit and that many changes took place in important civic positions.

At another time the marquis, who always dressed very modestly, made his way on foot to the palace of Prince Massimo, where a big reception was being held. As he approached the entrance a pompous lackey looked him over from head to foot and then barred the way.

"No admittance tonight," he said insolently. "A reception is going on."

The nobleman stood amazed, for even over princes he often took precedence, but then he saw the humor of the situation and, smiling to himself, walked away.

Half an hour later a magnificent coach drew up before the palace, and out stepped the marquis, resplendent in a gorgeous court uniform and scintillating with decorations. In a minute the whole house was astir, and the hostess herself met him and led him in. The night was warm, and soon she invited him to have an ice, an offer which he promptly accepted. Imagine her feelings when, instead of eating it, he coolly and deliberately proceeded to spread spoonful after spoonful over the front of his uniform and on his numerous decorations.

"Why, marquis," she exclaimed in alarm, "what are you doing?"

"Giving Caesar what belongs to Caesar," was the quiet reply. "Your servants refused to let me in in the garb of a plain gentleman, but promptly admitted my costume and decorations when I carried them in. Is it not they that should be rewarded?"

A peculiarity of the marquis was his refusing to have as personal valets any but the most quick witted of young fellows, who could help him in his little escapades without having to be coached too much. Many amusing tales are told of his experiences in engaging them. In one instance he was [illegible] piano trying some church [illegible] was ush-ered in. He didn't stop playing or even glance around, but began to ask questions, the answers to which evidently did not appeal to him, for he suddenly struck a loud chord and, following the tune of the music, chanted in a loud voice, "You will never do for me." Then he rose and without a look at the man started to walk out of the room. Quick as a flash the applicant stepped to the piano and, striking the keys with both fists, chanted back solemnly on the same air, "I'm very glad of it, because I don't like you a bit."

Any one else would have had the man thrown out for his impudence, but the marquis paused at the door and smiled with appreciation.

"I guess we shall get on nicely, after all," he said pleasantly. "See my 'maggiordomo' and speak to him about terms."—New York Times.

Webster and His Tenant.

Daniel Webster once became the owner of some land in New Hampshire, with buildings thereon. He left the tenant who was there when the premises were conveyed to him in possession. One summer a few years later as he and his wife were journeying in the vicinity of the farm they decided to take a look at it. He found an aged woman in charge. She said in reply to questions that the place belonged to a lawyer down in Boston named Webster.

"What rent do you pay?" asked the amused owner.

"Rent!" she exclaimed. "I don't pay any rent. It is bad enough to live here without having to pay for it, and if he don't fix up the house soon I'll leave anyhow. Wonder if he expects I'm going to freeze to death this cold weather?"

"Well," remarked the proprietor, "it is a pretty hard case, but if you'll accept this five dollar bill toward holding on another year I'll try to see Mr. Webster and have something done about it."

With which remark he took final leave of his farm.—Boston Herald.

An Organized Holdup.

An English Christmas isn't a saengerfest; it's a beggingfest. The band plays, but it plays with one hand while the other is out for coin. The boys and men sing Christmas hymns and then take a collection, and the moon may be shining, but you can't see it through the fog. Some of the railway stations are decorated, and you've scarcely had time to remark that you think it's a very beautiful custom when an itching palm appears between you and the holly. The postman says, "Merry Christmas," and waits for you to be generous, and the lamplighter and the paper boy and the man who delivers groceries and the boy from the cake shop. Porters follow you wherever you go, and servants whom you never saw before bob up in numbers. And out in the street whenever you hear any one say "Merry Christmas" you mechanically put your hand in your pocket. It isn't Christmas; it's an organized holdup.—Bohemian.

The Marvel of Distance.

The distance to the nearest fixed star is so tremendous that, like many of the facts of astronomy, it is beyond the grasp of the human imagination, though not beyond the reach of mathematical demonstration. Light, which travels at a speed of 186,000 miles in a single second of time, takes over four years to reach us from the nearest star. The thread spun by a spider is so excessively fine that a pound of it would be long enough to reach around the earth. It would take ten pounds of it to reach to the moon and over 3,000 pounds to stretch to the sun. But to get a thread long enough to reach the nearest star would require half a million tons. If a railroad could be built to this star and the fare fixed at a cent a mile the total cost of the journey would be $250,000,000,000, or more than sixty times the whole amount of coined gold in the world.

Strange Fog Signal.

When fogs prevail in Boston harbor, the attention of passengers on the Nantasket Beach line of steamers is attracted by a faint metallic sound which might be mistaken for the sound of a bell. But it is not the clanging of a bell which the passengers hear. Suddenly through the mist there appears ahead, like a specter, a large tripod, from the apex of which is suspended a big steel triangle. It is this which causes the strange sound and signals vessels as to how to guide their course through the difficult channel of the fog.

HANDLING A TIGER.

How a Turkoman Subdued a Snarling, Angry Man Eater.

"In a cage near the room in which I lived while in Khiva," says Langdon Warner in the Century Magazine, "was a tiger from the Oxus swamps. He had taken a dislike to me, and every time I passed his cage he got up and paced angrily toward me, snarling.

"Into the cage of this beast, at the command of the prince, a Turkoman stepped, armed with a short stick as big round as his wrist. With this stick he struck the tiger's nose as he made for him, and then, with palms out and eyes fixed, he walked slowly up to the shrinking beast and stroked his face and flank.

"The tiger snarled and took the man's hand in his open mouth. I held my breath and looked for the bleeding stump to fall away; but, keeping that hand perfectly still, with the other he tickled the tiger's jowl and scratched his ear till with a yawn and a pleased snarl the big cat rolled over on his back to have his belly scratched.

"The man then sank to his knees, always keeping his hands in motion over the glossy fur, and with his foot drew toward him a collar attached to a chain. This he snapped round the beast's neck and, rising to his feet, laid hold of the chain and dragged the tiger out.

"This was only the second time that the cage had been entered. As soon as the tiger was outside he espied the watching party and started for them, but came up short on the collar. If he had chosen to use his weight and strength no four of them could have held his tether, but as it was the Turkoman found little difficulty with him and held him, snarling, while a camera was snapped."

THE STAR MIRA.

A Sun of Great Size That Is Struggling For Existence.

For the greater part of the time the variable Mira, which has been known to astronomers for 300 years, is altogether unnoticeable and indeed invisible, except with telescopes. It once disappeared entirely for a period of four years, but afterward attained extraordinary splendor, only to fade again to invisibility. It is a sun of great size, brighter than our sun when it shines at its brightest, but some trouble, some solar disease, seems to be sapping its vitality, and it resembles a patient almost at the last gasp. Once in about 331 days—but the period is irregular—it has a sudden accession of energy and flares up for a little while with several hundredfold brilliancy only to sink back into a dull red point that nearly escapes the ken of the telescope. One interesting explanation that has been suggested is that the surface of Mira periodically bursts into a vast flame of burning hydrogen, so great and powerful that it is visible across millions of millions of miles of space. It is a star for the imagination of a Dante, yet there is reason to believe that the time is coming when every star in the sky, not excepting the sun, will have to confront a similar struggle for existence, just as every mortal being must some time see death.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York American.

What He Wanted.

"How will you have your hair cut, sir?" said the talkative barber to the victim in the chair.

"Minus conversational prolixity," replied the patient.

"How's that, sir?"

"With abbreviated or totally eliminated narrations."

"What?"

"Without effervescent verbosity. Let even diminutive colloquy be conspicuous by its absence."

The barber scratched his head thoughtfully a second and then went over to the proprietor of the shop and whispered, "I don't know whether that man in my chair is mad or a foreigner, but I can't find out what he wants."

The victim had to explain that he wanted the job done in silence.

A Diplomat.

Mrs. Climber—My dear, Mrs. Highup has had her portrait painted by a celebrated artist, and I haven't a thing but a common, ordinary, everyday photograph to show. Husband (a wise man)—The idea of advertising to the world that her complexion is so bad that it won't stand the camera! Mrs. Climber—Well, that's true.

THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A Member May Drink There, but Is Not Allowed to Eat.

The British house of commons has its own code in regard to the partaking of liquid and solid refreshments. A member making a long speech may take a drink, and the house is liberal enough not to care whether the color of the contents of the glass is white or brown or black, whether, in fact, the glass holds water or whisky or beer. Mr. Gladstone's egg flips, which his wife carefully compounded for him and he brought to the house in a bottle, are classic.

But woe betide the man who scorns drink and must have meat. Contemporary recollection only recalls one member rash enough to disregard this rule. It was a number of years ago, in the stormy time of the home rule debates, that an Irish member, in the small hours of the morning, produced from his pocket a paper bag and drew out a bun, which he proceeded calmly to eat. The house was instantly in an uproar. There were loud cries of "Order! Order!" and that bun was never finished.

No member may read a newspaper in the house. If he had the temerity to smoke, the sergeant at arms would quickly place him under lock and key. —Appleton's Magazine.

Confused the Elevator Man.

New York elevator operators have a dislike of the word "next."

"It is too confusing," said one man. "For example, two men stepped into my car the other day. One said, 'Fifth floor.' The other said, 'Next.' I stopped at the second floor and waited and waited for the man who had ordered 'next' to get off. He flew into a rage. 'I don't want this floor,' he said. 'I said the sixth floor. Didn't the other fellow say "Fifth," and didn't I say "Next," and isn't sixth next after fifth? Huh?'

"The following day one passenger called out, 'Third floor,' and the other said 'Next' at the same time. I thought I knew my business that time. I hustled the third floor man right up to his landing and took the chap who wanted 'next' on to the fourth floor. He was angry also. 'What did you bring me up here for when I wasn't looking?' he thundered. 'Didn't you hear me say next?' 'Yes,' said I, 'but the other man said third'— 'I don't give a rap,' said he, 'what the other man said. We were then on the first floor, and when I said next didn't that mean second? I'll report you for inattention, that's what I'll do.'

"And that is what he did do," sighed the operator. "Clearly the word 'next' ought to be abolished."—New York Sun.

The Old Fashioned "Hired Girl."

The "hired girl" (we never, never alluded to her as "the maid" in the small American town or quiet country place where you and I were "raised") was like one of the family, and mother was glad to have her help, and none of us put on any frills with her, and she was not compelled to put on any frills of cap or apron with us. Ofttimes, especially in the quiet country places, her social standing was as good as that of anybody else. Usually she was one of a grown family of girls There was plenty of help at her house, and so she came and assisted our mother at our house. In their hours of ease mother and she discussed the neighborhood gossip together. The "hired girl" had her beau, a neighbor's stolid, sheepish son, and much was she joked about him, and finally, after years of faithful and friendly servitude, she married him. We went to the wedding, and it was quite a social affair, with much temperate merriment and with many cheap but useful presents.—Everybody's Magazine.

Her Cost.

Young Jobson is of an exceedingly statistical turn of mind. He got married lately, and at the railway station he had his wife weighed; then he took out a little hand book and made some calculations, muttering: "Wedding expenses, ——; [illegible] expenses, ——; divide by ——. I say, my dear, you have cost me exactly fourpence halfpenny a pound."—London Tit-Bits.

Not That Strap.

"Why don't you get up and give that seat to your father, Bobby?" reprimanded the woman. "Doesn't it pain you to see him reaching for a strap?"

"Not on a train," chuckled Bobby.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Traitors are hated even by those they favor.—Tacitus.

THE LAND OF ROMANCE.

Spain and the Peculiar Temperament of Its People.

If I were asked to sum up the dominant impression that the survival in Spain of the old world mediaevalism makes, I should say that Spain is in the precise and specific sense of the word the home of romance. The special character of the Spanish temperament and of Spanish developments in literature and in art is marked by a quality, rising and sinking with the rise and fall of Gothic, which we call the romantic spirit—a mixture, that is, of the mysterious and grandiose with the grotesquely bizarre of the soaringly ideal with the crudely real, a mixture which to us today has the cunning fascination of art, but was really on both sides the natural outcome of the experiences and feelings of the men who created it. This romantic spirit was once the common possession of all Christendom, but the Spanish temperament peculiarly lent itself to the romantic attitude, and it is in Spain today that we may catch its final vanishing echoes. It is the church, always the most powerful stronghold of tradition among any people, which enables the stranger most vividly to realize how well the romantic spirit has been preserved in Spain. Notwithstanding invasions from without and revolutions from within, especially during the early years of the last century, Spain is still the country where the mediaeval spirit of romantic devotion is most splendidly embodied and preserved.—Havelock Ellis in Atlantic.

Mexican Church Legends.

Queretaro was a town before the Spanish conquest and was made a city in 1655. A legend of Queretaro is that an Otomite chief, Fernando de Tapia by name, undertook to convert the city to Christianity in a way that seems novel to us, but was common enough to his day. He came from Tula with a challenge to the people of Queretaro to a fair stand up fight. If he won, the people surviving were to be baptized. The challenge was accepted, but while the fight was in progress a dark cloud came up and the blessed Santiago was seen in the heavens with a fiery cross, whereupon the people of Queretaro gave up and were baptized. They set up a stone cross to commemorate the event on the site of the present church of Santa Cruz. There is scarcely a church in Mexico which has not a legend of this kind attached to it.

Hog and Boiled Turkey.

"The hog," said a Baltimore judge, "is the greatest animal in the world. Every part of him has a different flavor, and each flavor is better than that of any other animal in the world."

"Better than a terrapin?"

"I don't call a terrapin an animal. The terrapin is a creation. But, to return to the hog, all of him is good, from his tail to his front feet. Chine is a great dish, but it doesn't compare with jowl. Jowl and turnip tops in the spring can be beaten by only one thing, and that is a boiled hen turkey. Nobody but a Yankee or a heathen would roast a hen turkey in the spring. Hen turkeys are fat before they lay, and the flavor is delicious. Properly cooked and served, such a dish is fit for kings, and nations have gone to war for less cause."—Baltimore News.

Webster's Compliment.

While it is well known that Daniel Webster in speaking of General Taylor's candidacy for the office of president pronounced it "a nomination not fit to be made," he never failed to do justice to the general's military abilities and eminent service in the field. On one occasion he paid the old soldier a delicate and well deserved compliment. General Taylor was complaining of the crowds of people who daily besieged him soon after his accession to the presidency.

"They interfere," he said, "with my official engagements and violate my domestic retirement, but still I do not wish to turn my back upon my friends."

"You never did upon your enemies, general," Mr. Webster instantly replied.

The Yankee In German Eyes.

The Yankees are a joyous people. They are before everything optimists. Why should they not be? They dwell in a spacious land full of the treasures of the earth. They are not overladen with knowledge, but learn for practice, and during the greater part of the year a blue heaven stretches over them. For all those reasons the Yankees may well laugh. The Americans are, moreover, born humorists.—Berlin Woche.

A PROTECTORY CLUB HAS BEEN ORGANIZED

Will be Branch of the Central Juvenile Protective Associatin.

AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

At Which Were Present Many Leading Business and Professional Men—Officers Elected, and Association Starts Out With Excellent Prospects.

A meeting was held in the Brown House parlors Saturday morning for the purpose of organizing a branch of the Juvenile Protectory Association, to be known as the Juvenile Protectory Association of Alachua county, the purpose of which is to care particularly for the wayward boys of the community, and to work in harmony with the general movement now being organized by Rev. Crawford Jackson of Atlanta.

Mayor W. R. Thomas was elected president, H. L. Phifer vice-president, and Rev. F. H. Craighill secretary. The following ladies were chosen probation officers, to represent their respective churches in caring for inane criminals: Mesdames J. E. Wainwright, E. E. Voyle, T. F. McBeath and W. B. Higdon.

The object of the association is to promote legislation looking toward the establishment of a juvenile court, whose sentences shall be reformatory, rather than punitive; to co-operate with the movement for a central juvenile protectory; and more especially to endeavor to help and eventually reform boys who have been convicted of minor offenses before the county court or the mayor. There are no dues or membership fees, but all friends of the movement are invited to become members, and to send their names to the secretary for enrollment.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Interesting Debate by Pupils of the Eighth Grade.

(By Our Special School Reporter.)

Our school still continues to grow in interest and numbers. We now have an enrollment of 504.

The eighth grade now has a flourishing literary society that meets every other Friday afternoon. The first meeting was held Friday, at which the question, "Affirmed that water is more destructive than fire," was debated, the principal and two of the pupils of the grade acting as judges. The decision was given in favor of the affirmative, two to one. The principal complimented the young debaters very highly, and said that by the end of the session, if they kept on as they had begun, they could safely challenge either of the high school societies to a trial of debating skill. The young president presided very gracefully. Mrs. Coffey has a right to be proud of her grade. They will carry with them a new spirit into the high school next year.

We all greatly enjoyed "Brother Burke's" visit to chapel exercises Friday morning, and the entertaining and instructive talk he gave us. We hope he will come again. He expressed himself as especially pleased with the discipline and good order of the school. His praise of the fifth grade—which this month is carrying the honor banner for attendance and deportment—made all the grades more determined in their efforts to secure the banner next month.

We are always glad to have visitors, but we hope the next horses that make up their minds to set a good example to the parents of the city will not be so enthusiastic about it, and not come in such a hurry and rush. Their intentions were doubtless all right, but their entrance was too startingly sudden.

Fridays incident ought to impress upon the people of Gainesville the necessity for putting a neat strong fence around the school campus. Had it occurred thirty minutes earlier there would without doubt have been several funerals in town today. Besides, no steps can be taken to beautify the grounds until they are inclosed, and this is all the more to be regretted from the fact that the grounds are so situated as naturally to render them easily capable of being made especially beautiful and attractive at little expense, as this work could and would gladly be undertaken by the pupils. We have without doubt the most beautiful public school site in the State, and it is a standing impeachment of our civic pride that the natural beauty of the grounds has not only not been improved, but not even protected.

Believing that no education is complete that does not reach up and lay hold of the spiritual side of the older boys and girls in some definite and decisive way, the principal has organized a Bible class that meets every Thursday afternoon, just after the close of school. Attendance upon this class is of course entirely voluntary, as it is entirely outside the regular work of the school, but a large number of the boys and girls of the High School, and some from the eighth grade, have already enrolled themselves in the class, as have also a number of the teachers.

The children of the third grade, Miss DaCosta's class, are patting themselves on the back and putting on a good deal of superior airs over the fact that their grade was the only one in the entire building that was not stampeded by the unexpected visitors Friday afternoon—but the other grades explain it by saying, "Huh! them kids was just too scared to run."

Chapel exercises have been especially pleasant and entertaining this week. On Monday we had a piano solo by Mary Floyd; on Wednesday a piano duet by Gladys and Maurine Gracy; and on Friday a visit from Rev. T. J. Nixon and "Bro. Burke Culpepper.

Next week will be a busy one, as we are to have our mid session examinations.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

REV. CULPEPPER IS STIRRING THINGS UP

Preached Fine Sermon to Large Congregation Saturday Night.

CALLED A SPADE A SPADE

Did Not Couch His Language, and Said the Only Way to Stir Some People Was by a Revival Service—Meetings Are Largely Attended.

The Methodist church was crowded to standing-room only long before the time for the beginning of the regular service. The first half-hour was spent in a song service. After close of the song service the elder Culpepper, who has somewhat recovered from his illness, preached a powerful sermon, taking as his text a verse in the Third Chapter of Habakuk: "O, Lord, I have heard a rumor, and it Brightened me." He said if there was anything people ought to get excited about, it was the interests of their immortal souls, and those of their loved ones.

"Men get stirred up about business or politics," remarked the preacher, "why not about religion? The truth is, men can't help getting stirred up about anything they take interest in. We can't have revivals without excitement, simply because we can't succeed in anything without that deep interest that expresses itself in what we call excitement.

"Four-fifths of all Christians are converted in revivals. Under the foundations of nearly every college in the land, if you would dig down you would find the bones of a preacher who had been converted at a revival. Revivals wake up the home conscience; they give to the wives better husbands, and to the husbands better wives. Revivals quicken debt-paying conscience. One protracted meeting can beat all the collectors and sheriffs in the country collecting old debts.

"A revival that digs down and stirs up folks to the bottom is the only kind of a revival that counts for anything. We want such a one here."

While still quite weak from his illness, Mr. Culpepper spoke with great fervor and earnestness and his sermon made a deep impression. At the conclusion of the services quite a number asked to be prayed for.

The meeting is rapidly growing in interest and a great revival and awakening seems beginning.

FOR MEN ONLY.

Rev. J. B. Culpepper Will Talk in Court House This Afternoon.

Rev. J. B. Culpepper, the evangelist who is conducting a series of meetings at the First Methodist Church, will deliver a lecture to men only at the court house at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Why

should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, greatest known medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla., writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing, happy and well." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Mr. Hope's Misfortune.

Mac Hope, a deserving farmer and resident of the LaCrosse section, had the misfortune Thursday to lose his home and all its contents by fire, the loss aggregating several hundred dollars, without insurance. The burning of the house was a surprise to Mr. Hope. It appears that himself and family were away spending the day. They left everything intact, but upon returning found the house and contents in ashes. The origin of the fire is unknown.

IS THIS YOUR LAND?

Applications for Tax Deeds That May Interest Land Owners.

Notice is given that on February 11, 1907, application will be made for for tax deed to the following described lands:

SW¼ of NE¼ Sec. 30, T. 10 S., R. 19 E., 40 acres—assessed to Fannie Dowd.

And on January 28th, 1907, they will apply for tax deed to the SE¼ of SE¼ of Sec. 29, T. 11 S., R. 18 E., 40 acres assessed to Benjamin McKinney.

These lands may be redeemed prior to the dates named through S. H. Wienges, clerk of the circuit court, Gainesville, Fla.

Tax deeds to lands advertised by the same parties were made on January 21st, described as follows: W½ of NW¼ Sec. 32, T. 9 S., R. 21 E., 80 acres, assessed to Thos. Chisholm. S½ of Secs. 28 and 29, T. 9 S., R. 21 E., 640 acres assessed to Elbert Felton. NE¼ of NE¼ Sec. 33, T. 9 S., R. 21 E., 40 acres, assed as owner unknown. Notice of application for tax deed to these lands would have been published in The Sun, but for some reason the supplement to the paper in which these notices appeared was never received at this office, and we are only enabled to give notice in the first two instances through the courtesy of a friend calling our attention to them in the paper which he received. Clerk Wienges will hereafter, however, furnish us with a duplicate copy of all applications for tax deeds where the advertisement is requested to be published in some other paper than The Sun, and our readers can rest assured that hereafter due publicity will be given in every instance where title to property is involved.

The intention of the law requiring publication of legal advertisements is to give the greatest possible publicity to such notices, but in many instances the intention of the law is deliberately evaded. Our rates for the publication of applications for tax deeds are too low for the question of cost of advertisement to be a reason for not publishing them in this paper.

TO ENJOY A GOOD DINNER.

How to Avoid Distress and Indigestion After Eating.

Let us tell you how you can enjoy a good dinner, so that the heartiest meal will set well on your stomach and cause no unpleasant and disagreeable after effects.

We will show you how to regain the appetite of your childhood and the enjoyment of food, so that it will taste as well as when mother cooked the dinner.

There is no hard work necessary to do this; no need of a rigid and self-denying diet list; no call for nasty and disagreeable medicines. Simply take a Mi-o-na stomach tablet before each meal and before going to bed, and it will so strengthen the stomach that before long a hearty meal will give you gratification and confort, without the least fear of distress and suffering.

The strongest proof we can offer of our faith in this advice, is the fact that J. W. McCollum & Co. give an absolute, unqualified guarantee (applying to two 50¢ boxes of Mi-o-na,) that your money will be refunded unless Mi-o-na cures. A guarantee like this gives you confidence in Mi-o-na. They take the whole risk, and the remedy will not cost you a penny unless it cures.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, giving only temporary relief, but a specific for all diseases of the stomach, strengthening the digestive organs and making a permanent cure.

No Rhyme For Tipperary.

A poet once jumped to the conclusion that there was no rhyme to Tipperary and said so, whereupon an indignant Irishman, who chanced also to be a bit of a versifier, pounced upon him and poked fun at him in a lengthy poem, every other line of which rhymed or was supposed to rhyme with the place in question. Thus:

A bard there was in sad quandary
To find a rhyme for Tipperary.
Long labored he through January,
Yet found no rhyme for Tipperary;
Toiled every day in February,
But toiled in vain for Tipperary;
Searched Hebrew text and commentary,
But searched in vain for Tipperary.

And so on through many scores of stanzas, ending up with:

He paced about his aviary,
Burnt in despair his dictionary,
Blew up sky high his secretary,
And then in wrath and anger swore he
There was no rhyme for Tipperary.

They Cure Constipation

STOP WOMAN AND CONSIDER

First, that almost every operation in our hospitals, performed upon women, becomes necessary because of neglect of such symptoms as Backache, Irregularities, Displacements, Pain in the Side, Dragging Sensations, Dizziness and Sleeplessness.

Second, that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, has cured more cases of female ills than any other one medicine known. It regulates, strengthens and restores women's health and is invaluable in preparing women for child-birth and during the period of Change of Life.

Third, the great volume of unsolicited and grateful testimonials on file at the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., many of which are from time to time being published by special permission, give absolute evidence of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

For more than 30 years has been curing Female Complaints, such as Dragging Sensations, Weak Back, Falling and Displacements, Inflammation and Ulceration, and Organic Diseases, and it dissolves and expels Tumors at an early stage.

Mrs. Pinkham's Standing Invitation to Women

Women suffering from any form of female weakness are invited to write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. for advice. She is the Mrs. Pinkham who has been advising sick women free of charge for more than twenty years, and before that she assisted her mother-in-law, Lydia E. Pinkham in advising. Thus she is especially well qualified to guide sick women back to health. Write today, don't wait until too late.

J. J. HAYMANS HAD A BIG LOSS

It is Said That He Lost 165,000 Boxes by Fire.

A LARGE MONEY VALUATION

Represented Large Amount of Labor and Stores—One of the Most Serious Catastrophes Yet Reported on Account of Forest Fires.

While the continued drought, which was only broken by a rain on Friday evening, proved a source of universal loss to this section of the State, the greatest loss has been recorded in the loss of 165,000 turpentine boxes, which it is said was sustained by J. J. Haymans, the naval stores operator of Lochloosa. While Mr. Haymans did not make a personal report of his loss, the report reached this city through parties from that neighborhood, who stated that the forest fires, brought about by the dry condition of the meadows and forests, had destroyed this amount of property belonging to Mr. Haymans, which involves several thousand dollars.

There have been reported several other serious losses in various sections of the county from forest fires, which it has seemed impossible to control. Miles of fences and crops have been destroyed, entailing great losses to the farmers and owners of timber lands, as well as naval stores operators and lumber manufacturers.

The loss to Mr. Haymans is a very serious one, since it represents an immense amount of labor and products.

Dangers of a Cold and How to Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effectual medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by all druggists.

Cooking and Spoiling.

There are three kinds of cooking—negative, neutral and positive. The first is no cooking at all. It is only spoiling good material. It is simply jabbing wildly at a delicate duty. The neutral sort is the kind where a person eats and doesn't know it—just swallows and goes; no sentiment, no beauty, no delight in it. The third is where the light of the mind and the grace of the heart join in the delicate mingling of the material and touch this and that feature of the process with the lovely vision of the sculptor who rounds the white muscle of Venus' shoulder or of the artist who blends in a flower the tints of another world.—Ohio State Journal.

IN A NEW FIELD.

Rev. T. L. Z. Barr and Family Cordially Welcomed by People of Micanopy.

Dear Mr. Editor: After a very pleasant and successful pastorate of two years on Welborn Circuit, where nearly two hundred precious souls were won for Christ and over thirty-five hundred dollars raised for this glorious cause, I have been appointed by Bishop Morrison to Micanopy Circuit.

Immediately after the adjournment of Conference, I packed and shipped my household goods, bid my dear friends of Welborn "good-bye," stepped into my buggy and drove across the country, a distance of eighty miles, in two days.

I reached the beautiful little town of Micanopy on December 28th, at noon, and dined with Dr. J. D. Watkins. Mrs. Barr and my two children came on the train, reaching here on the night of the 29th of December. Quite a number of ladies met Mrs. Barr at the parsonage, prepared a very excellent supper, and made her feel quite comfortable in her new home.

On the same evening the people gave us quite a rich pounding of good things to start us off. The people have kindly received us and promised their hearty co-operation in the great work which we are here to perform.

Oh, may God make us a blessing to these kind people, as he has made us a blessing to people in other fields of labor! Fraternally, T. L. Z. Barr.

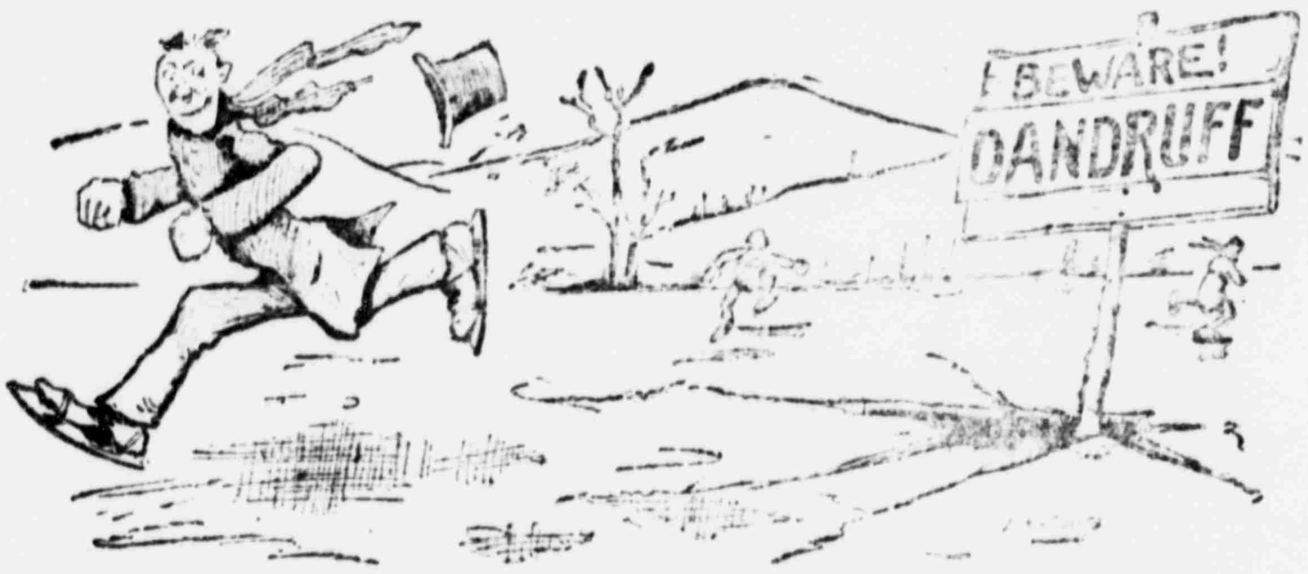
The Snob.

The snob cultivates a man or a woman not because he expects to get a job or a loan out of either, but because he thinks either can help him along into society's elect. He cuts a former acquaintance because the unfortunate person seems to be of no use in his own social advancement. He suppresses the impulse that may lead him to dislike useful people and like useless ones just as the ambitious bank clerk suppresses his small extravagances, his fondness for the race track. Because social position seems so important to him he admires excessively those who have it and snubs those whose position he deems inferior to his own.—New York Mail.

Newbro's Herpicide

A "HAIR-SAVER" THAT GROWS IN POPULARITY



DANDRUFF IS A SIGN OF DANGER TO THE HAIR

Dandruff is now known to be a disease—and a highly contagious one—that will in time destroy the hair and cause baldness.

The first indication of hair destruction is the appearance of dandruff, although there is always considerable injury to the scalp before dandruff finally appears.

The value of Newbro's Herpicide as an eradicator of dandruff and as a saver and beautifier of the hair, is now recognized by well-posted people everywhere. It is the ORIGINAL remedy that "kills the dandruff germ."

Herpicide is not a wonderful "discovery," nor is it the result of a dream or revelation. It is simply a scientific germicide and prophylactic for the scalp and it is the first and only successful one to be compounded in harmony with Prof. Unna's theory. Prof. Unna, the dermatologist, of Hamburg, Germany (ask your Doctor about him), was the first to advance the belief that dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair are caused by an invisible growth of vegetable character in the sebaceous glands of the scalp.

The investigations of Prof. Unna and other noted dermatologists prove what many have learned by actual experience, viz: that ordinary hair remedies are ineffectual to prevent hair loss and that to be successful, the dandruff germ must be destroyed and kept out of the scalp.

The success of Newbro's Herpicide has demonstrated to the people at large the incorrectness of old theories relative to treating the hair and scalp. Even the Manufacturers of other hair remedies recognize the inevitable and, one by one, they are changing their remedies to conform to the germ theory of dandruff.

But why experiment with remedies that have not been tried? Herpicide is the original success, so why bother with substitutes at any price?

MORE MEN AND WOMEN HAVE GOTTEN POSITIVE RESULTS FROM THE USE OF NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE THAN FROM ALL OTHER HAIR REMEDIES COMBINED.

It takes an unmarried woman to tell you how a husband should be disciplined.

Did you ever notice that the size of trouble depends on whether it is coming or going?

Mr. Harriman wants it distinctly understood that he is opposed to government ownership so long as he is not the government.

A Chicago woman wants her husband enjoined from speaking to her on the street. He might get even with her by having her enjoined from speaking to him at home.

Congressman Frank Clark has won another victory. He stood out boldly for an increase in the salary of members of Congress, and the bill has passed both branches of the National Legislature and will soon become a law.

We wonder how many parents realize that their child is a book of blank paper in which shall be recorded the record of their lives? Be careful, therefore, what you have written there, for the world will read it! All your secret thoughts the child will try to write.

Senator D. H. Baker of Sumter county may be a candidate for president of the Senate to convene in April. Senator Baker is one of Florida's best and noblest men, and would make an able and impartial presiding officer. He is well qualified for the position by past service in both the Kentucky and Florida law-making bodies.

Hon. J. M. Barco of Marion county is favorably mentioned by a number of our exchanges for Comptroller at the primary election in 1908. Mr. Barco is one of the best and most competent men in the State for this responsible position, and his numerous friends in Alachua county, among whom he resided for a number of years, would be delighted at the opportunity to vote for him.

One of the strongest endorsements of Senator Mallory that we have seen comes from The Gainesville Sun. Mc. is one of those "original Mallory men," and if we mistake not has been an ardent supporter of our senior senator since the night of that famous caucus in the senate chamber at Tallahassee eleven years ago.—Pensacola Journal.

Correct you are, Bro. Mayes. We have been an ardent admirer and supporter of Stephen R. Mallory from the time he became a member of the Florida Legislature, and we shall continue to support him as long as he is a candidate for public office, because we know him to be faithful and honest in all his dealings with the people. "That famous caucus in the senate chamber eleven years ago" was a time that "tried honest men's souls," and we have never regretted the fact that we were to some extent responsible for the outcome in the election of Senator Mallory. He has proven true to the confidence reposed in him on that momentous occasion, as he will prove true to every trust confined to him in the future.

WELL DESERVED COMPLIMENT

The Jacksonville Times-Union, Florida's great metropolitan newspaper, has the following to say regarding that excellent publication, The Florida Fruit and Truck Grower, published at Ocala by L. J. Brumby:

"It is a fact that may not be so generally realized, but it is a fact nevertheless, that Ocala is the home of the handsomest agricultural publication in the Southern States. There are, of course, some others, but none from the standpoint of typographical excellence and artistic work that equals The Florida Fruit and Truck Grower, established in 1903 by Mr. L. J. Brumby, and which celebrated its fourth anniversary this month with a splendid special edition. The January Fruit and Truck Grower, out today, contains many articles of special interest and importance. A description by the editor of Marion Farms, near Ocala, is one of the most notable of these. It is finely illustrated in the half-tone engravings from the engraving plant of The Times-Union, and made especially for this article. There are ten of these half tones, and every one of them is a story in itself. Another beautifully illustrated article, and one that will prove of interest to the lovers of fine stock, is descriptive of the Spring Park Stock Farms, near Gainesville. This article of Mr. Brumby's promises to open the eyes of people who do not realize that Florida can and does breed as fine cattle as any State in the Union.

"The story of the new port, Port Inglis, that appears in this number, gives an insight into the rapid and solid industrial and commercial progress the State of Florida is making in the early years of the new century.

"The Florida Fruit and Truck Grower is especially strong in its editorial department, and is proving a very important factor in attracting attention to Florida, and is almost an immigration bureau in itself. With the current issue it is again enlarged in the size of its pages. The cover design for January is a beautiful picture of Lake Worth, near Palm Beach, on the Florida East Coast."

AMERICAN COMMONWEALTH.

James Bryce, who is soon to be the British ambassador to this country, in his "American Commonwealth" was very free with his criticism of our form of government and of the power of the President. He seemed to look forward to such a President as we now have, for he said:

"In quiet times the power of the President is not great. He has less influence on legislation—that is to say his individual volition makes less difference to the course legislation takes—than the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

"The Senate, though it can keep the President from settling anything, cannot keep him from unsettling everything. He, or rather his Secretary of State, retains an unfettered initiative by means of which he may embroil the country abroad or excite passion at home."

And especially when he states, "That the larger a community becomes the less does it seem to respect an assembly, the more is it attracted by an individual man. A bold President who knew himself to be supported by a majority in the country might be tempted to override the law and deprive the minority of the protection which the law affords it. He might be a tyrant, not against the masses, but with the masses."

There is no gainsaying that the exceptional conditions looked forward to by Mr. Bryce have in a measure come to pass, but he evidently overlooked the unwritten law against a third term for a President which Washington declined and Grant was refused, and President Roosevelt declares he does not desire.

TARIFF TINKERING.

Secretary Root's speech before the National Board of Trade at Washington was remarkable for his declaration for a maximum and minimum tariff to overcome similar tariff walls erected by other countries. This retaliatory plan of dealing with customers is another form of reciprocity, which, as Andrew Carnegie once said, is a device for making one friend and ten enemies. Reciprocity is a scheme to benefit special interests and to continue to plunder consumers, and is the last device of the standpatters to save the protection system. Mr. Root did not state whether the present tariff rates were to be the maximum or minimum, but if the rates are to be increased to a maximum it will add still more burdens on the consumers and add to our already very high prices. The trusts and combines will be further protected from competition from abroad and quite naturally will take advantage of it by again raising prices.

But if Mr. Root proposes to make the present tariff rates the maximum and then create minimum rates by a reduction of all or some of the maximum rates, he will find determined opposition from those whose protection will be thus cut down. In any scheme of reciprocity, or maximum and minimum tariff rates, some one must be made the scape-goat, for any of our manufactured products that are added to the minimum tariff rates will be expected to invite competition from abroad, or there would be no inducement to other countries to open their markets to us at their minimum rates.

All such devices of protectionism will not help our agriculturalists, for they have to sell their surplus products, that are not consumed in the United States, in the markets of the world in competition with all countries also having a surplus to sell. In fact, it will hurt them by the high prices and even higher prices they will pay on what they buy. Consumers other than the farmers will suffer at the same ratio, so that only the trusts who have the political power to compel the Republican politicians to protect them will be benefited under the Root scheme.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that application will be made to the Legislature to convene at Tallahassee, Fla., in April 1907, for amendment of Chapter 5497, Laws of Florida, Acts of 1905, being entitled "An act extending and enlarging the territorial limits and the powers of the city of Gainesville, a municipal corporation organized and existing in Alachua county, Florida, and providing for the exercise of those powers."

WORMS

"I had for years suffered from what medical men called Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stomach. In August I purchased a box of Cascarets and was surprised to find that I "had 'em"—yes—a wiggling, squirming mass left me. I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. I trust this testimonial will appeal to other sufferers."

THE ANIMAL KINGDOM.

Wild dogs never bark and so always bite.

A gray horse lives the longest, a black one the shortest.

A coon's fur is so thick that it can rob bees without being stung.

A blue eyed cat is always deaf, but all deaf cats are not blue eyed.

An Asiatic squirrel climbs a tree like a telegraph pole climber. It has large horny scales on its tail for the purpose.

The flying fox or tropical bat will pass the night drinking from the vessels in which cocoa is distilled and go home intoxicated in the early morning or sleep it off at the foot of the trees.

The big snowshoe rabbit or northern hare is something of a dresser. It wears a white coat in winter and a gray one in summer, the better to conceal itself from its enemies by looking as the ground looks in the two seasons.

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by all druggists.

Hard on Beggars.

The philanthropist, handing the beggar a dime, said:

"The world is in a bad enough way, dear knows, but I am not one of those men who say that it goes back instead of forward. Take your case, for instance. You are practically unmolested, aren't you? A few months is the most you ever get for begging. And do you know what would have been done to you in the fifteenth century? The first time they caught you begging they'd have whipped you at the cart's tail. The second time they'd have slit your right ear and bored a hole in your left ear with a hot iron. Catching you a third time, they'd have put you to death as a felon."

"Gee," said the beggar, "who'd 'a' thunk it?"—New York Press.

Wise Counsel From the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured—so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. Price 50c.

Glasses and the Eyes.

Every one knows that in using a field glass it is necessary to adjust it to a proper focus. Suppose that you put one of the tubes at your focus and the other tube at a focus that suited some one else and then you looked through both tubes. You would have a more or less blurred vision, and if you kept on looking the chances are that you would feel giddy and get a headache. Now, the two eyes are supposed to have an equal natural focus, and when by any chance that focus is unequal a headache results. The remedy is a pair of glasses or a single glass to make the eyes equal in power.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Timely Precaution.

"Maria," said Mr. Quigley, entering his home in some excitement, "I want you to promise me not to look at the papers for the next three months!"

"What for?" wonderingly asked Mrs. Quigley.

"I have just been nominated for a public office," he faltered, "and I don't want you to find out what kind of man I really am."—Chicago Tribune.

How to Prevent Bilious Attacks.

One who is subject to bilious attacks will notice that for a day or more before the attack he is not hungry at meal times and feels dull after eating. [illegible] Chamberlain's Stomach and [illegible] these first symp- [illegible] the attack.

It Is Woman's Way.

When a woman undertakes to decapitate a fowl or anything with an ax she grasps the tool close to the head, raises her chin, squints both eyes, clinches two rows of teeth and hacks straight down, missing her aim by about two inches. That was sufficient for a Batavia lady to sever her left thumb. She was not a fainter and, replacing the thumb, which had been chopped at the first joint, bound the parts together and has excellent promise of its complete restoration. The game is not always lost when "thumbs are down."—Detroit News-Tribune.

Chronic Constipation Cured.

One who suffers from chronic constipation is in danger of many serious ailments. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation as it aids digestion and stimulates the liver and bowels, restoring the natural action of these organs. Commence taking it today and you will feel better at once. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is very pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. J. W. McCollum & Co.

The Letter A.

The letter A is in Hebrew called aleph, an ox, and the Phoenician character which represents this sound was originally a picture of an ox head; hence the name. The right hand stroke of the A represents the top of the head, the other down stroke the left side, and a line, since fallen out of use, represented the right side of the head, while in very old Phoenician manuscripts two dots above for eyes and two below for nostrils rendered the resemblance complete.

of living is to have good health. Use Herbine and you will have bushels of joy. You need not be blue, fretful and have that bad taste in your mouth. Try a bottle of Herbine, a positive cure for all liver complaints. E. Harrell, Austin, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for over a year, and find it a fine regulator. I gladly recommend it as a fine medicine for dyspepsia." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Costliest of All Fish.

The fish was no bigger than a silver dollar. Its color was bright gold, and it had a beautiful bushy golden tail.

"That," said the pet stock dealer, "is the finest aquarium fish in the world, a Chinese brush tailed goldfish. It is handsome, healthy and long lived. A good brush tailed goldfish," he concluded, "costs $250 or $300, and some fine specimens have sold for as much as $700 apiece."

All the World

is a stage, and Ballard's Snow Liniment plays a most prominent part. It has no superior for rheumatism, stiff joints, cuts, sprains and all pains. Buy it, try it and you will always use it. Anybody who has used Ballard's Snow Liniment is a living proof of what it does. Buy a trial bottle. 25c, 50c and $1.00. Sold by W. M. Johnson.

No Cannibalism.

With a quivering hand we clip from an Irish paper the following transcript of an official notice in a Dublin government office: "Under no circumstances must government messengers be used for luncheon."—London News.

We are pleased to announce that Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung troubles is not affected by the National Pure Food and Drug law as it contains no opiates or other harmful drugs, and we recommend it as a safe remedy for children and adults. J. W. McCollum & Co.

UNPROFITABLE FEEDING

Intelligent stock raisers know that a certain amount of feed is necessary to keep an animal alive. They might feed that amount as long as it lives, and it would never gain a pound.

There is no profit in that kind of feeding. The kind that pays is the kind that builds flesh rapidly. If it takes twenty pounds of food each day to keep a sheep alive, twenty-five pounds a day will make it gain flesh. It's the extra five that brings the profit. The first five pounds amounts to nothing, nor does the second or third or fourth five pounds.

It's the same way with advertising. You have to do a certain amount to overcome the resistance of the public.

You have to do a certain amount of advertising to make them wake up to the fact that you are in business at all. You have to pay a certain amount to keep your advertising alive. What you pay above that amount brings profit.

Some advertisers fail because they do not use enough space. They use barely enough or sometimes not quite enough to make the advertising self sustaining. A little bit more would make it profitable. It is better to advertise a little too much than not quite enough.—Charles Austin Bates.

Some of our advertisers could enlarge their space with profit.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

A Japanese woman's age can be told from her dress.

Potash put down a drain pipe will prevent a plumber's bill.

To get even with the wrong-doer you must drop to his level.

People who easily boil over do little toward washing the world.

A spoiled child is not so much to blame; it did not choose its parents.

For the sake of your children strive to know something about everything.

A kettle with a smoky bottom will take as long again to boil as a clean one.

Teach children the law of kindness. That is needed all through life and everywhere.

Raw eggs are nourishing and are healthful and have proven beneficial in cases of nervousness.

Patent leather shoes should be cleaned with milk, or a little sweet oil may be rubbed into them.

Genuine beauty includes a beautiful heart, a beautiful mind and a beautiful life. Angels can aim no higher than that.

As an inducement for men to marry ugly and crippled women, prizes are offered yearly in the town of Haschmann, Germany.

A Chicago man winked and nodded at a young lady and she has sued him for breach of promise. Her father must be an auctioneer.

Adam and Eve fell in love at first sight and raised Cain. The divorce courts signify that their descendants have been raising cain ever since.

"Tommy," said little Mabel, "I'm writing to the Lord for a little baby sister. What is the Lord's first name?" "I'm not sure," replied Tommy, wisely, "but mamma always calls Him O Lord."

"The times of love touched from the chord of memory will often unite estranged hearts in private and public station," says the humorous paragrapher of The Baltimore American, who writes such things occasionally just to show that his pen is not entirely controlled by his family home.

The Osler theory that people beyond the age of 65 are of no further use receives a dead knock-out in the case of Mrs. Laura Ann Owen of Richmond, Ind., who, at the age of 91 years, entered her son's corn field and husked a row around a thirty-acre lot without once stopping to rest. At a dinner given her by her relatives she declared she believed she had the strength to do all the work she performed daily fifty years ago.

DELIGHTFUL CARD PARTY.

Miss Lucille Colclough Entertains in Her Usual Delightful Manner.

One of the most enjoyable social functions of the season was the card party given by Miss Lucille Colclough on Friday evening complimentary to Miss Jessie Bodiford and her guest, Miss Ora Sue Mitchell of Atlanta.

Miss Colclough has always enjoyed an enviable reputation as a hostess, and the very mention of the fact that she will entertain adds lustre and earnestness to the anticipation of those who receive an invitation.

The game was progressive whist, and there were ten tables. The game was closely contested, and it was seen that those engaged knew something of the game, which is the most difficult at cards. At the conclusion it was discovered that the lady's prize, a handsome painting in water, had been won by Mrs. Wm. Dale, who presented the same to Miss Mitchell. The visiting lady's prize was a handsome fan, and honors lay between Miss Mayers of Watertown, N. Y., and Miss Price of Cartersville, Ga. Miss Price was the fortunate winner on the cut. The gentleman's prize, a stylographic pen, was awarded to Dr. J. W. McCollum, who proved himself an adept at the game.

Delicious refreshments, comprising chicken salads, olives, pickles, etc., were served.

In the receiving line were Mrs. C. A. Colclough, Miss Colclough, Miss Mitchell and Miss Bodiford.

A Thousand Dollars Worth of Good.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes: "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder troubles for years, passing gravel and stones with excruciating pain. I got no relief from medicine until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure; then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me $1,000 worth of good." J. W. McCollum & Co.

The Corpse Plant.

The corpse plant is a remarkable carnivorous specimen that grows in the colony of Natal. Its principal feature is a bell shaped mouth, with a throat opening into a hollow stem. It is almost black and covered with a thick, glutinous secretion, while its odor is very offensive. This attracts carrion feeding birds to it, and once they alight on it they are lost. Their claws become entangled in the secretion, the bell shaped mouth folds up, and they are literally swallowed.

A Jamaica Lady Speaks Highly of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Cart Service of Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her house. Sold by all druggists.

How They Save Lights in Stornoway.

On a sunken reef 350 feet distant from Stornoway lighthouse is a remarkable beacon which warns mariners with the help of a light which is only apparent. The beacon is a cone of cast iron plates, surmounted with a lantern containing a glass prism. The prism derives its light from refracting the rays emitted from the lighthouse, and the optical delusion is marvelous. Mariners naturally suppose that there is a lighted lamp on the beacon itself, and many of them will not believe otherwise. But the object of the beacon is attained when the navigator sees the reflected light, which indicates the perilous rock below. This beacon in the north of Scotland has been in use more than half a century, and since it was fixed in position others have been placed in other neighborhoods to make clear points of danger. It is an ingenious and very effective safeguard against perils of the coast.

Bachelor Ignorance.

"Aren't men the limit?" said young Mrs. Wheel. "When I told my brother this morning that baby had just cut a tooth, he asked me savagely why I had allowed it to play with knives."

"And my bachelor uncle," said Mrs. Whoa, "when he heard that my baby had begun teething, wanted to know if it would begin hairing soon."—New York Press.

The Right Name.

Mr. August Sherpe, the popular overseer of the poor at Fort Madison, Ia., says: "Dr. King's New Life Pills are rightly named; they act more agreeably, do more good and make one feel better than any other laxative." Guaranteed to cure biliousness and constipation. 25c at all drug stores.

RHEUMATISM
AN ACID BLOOD POISON

Rheumatism is an acid blood poison, and the causes that produce it are often silently accumulating in the system for years. Poor digestion, stomach troubles, weak kidneys, torpid liver, and a general inactive condition of the system leaves the refuse and waste matter, which should be carried off, to sour and form uric acid, which is absorbed into the blood. When the blood is in this acid-charged condition, it deposits the poisons and irritating particles with which it is loaded in the muscles, nerves, joints and bones. Then Rheumatism gets possession of the system, and life is made miserable by its pains, aches and discomforts. The changing of the weather, exposure to cold and dampness, etc., always increase the trouble, and so severe does the pain become that quick relief must be had. A good liniment or plaster is often helpful, but it should be remembered that relief from such treatment is only temporary, because the trouble is in the blood and cannot be removed by external applications. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism by ridding the blood of the cause. It goes down into the circulation and by invigorating and purifying the blood of the acid-poison and sending a stream of fresh, rich blood to all parts, relieves the pain, reduces the inflammation, and permanently cures this painful disease. S. S. S. is the only safe treatment for Rheumatism, because it does not contain a particle of mineral in any form to damage the system. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice desired sent free.
